MONEY ACCORD, PARIS AND U.S. WILL REMAIN

London Declares Effect Already Felt in Reduced Outflow

By GEORGE HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, June 8.—Great Britain is not contemplating any change in her monetary policy. "I see no need for any new declaration of policy at the present time," Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, definitely told the House of Commons this afternoon.

LONDON, June 8.—Great Britain hiked the price of gold today to 140 shillings 8s. 6d. (154.75) an ounce to discourage shipment abroad, and the government assured investors the monetary stabilization agreement with the United States and France would be continued.

These two steps clarified the financial situation in such a way that the "gold scare" of the past two weeks appeared last night to have disappeared.

The new gold price was an advance of 24 cents to the ounce and had a two-fold purpose: 1.—It makes the margin between the London and New York price of $35 an ounce, making shipment abroad less profitable. At the same time, the price for the pound sterling, up from 154.75 to 154.75, is about five cents an ounce, compared with 14 cents on Saturday. There has been fear continued export of gold would upset the British-United States stabilization talks.

About $84,000,000 in gold was sold in the London market the past two weeks.

2.—The higher London price appeared to substantiate rumors that Great Britain, France and the United States are now considering dropping the price to $30 an ounce in New York and stabilizing the pound at $5 and the franc at five cents.

CHECKS OUTFLOW
The new price had an effect quickly apparent in checking the outflow of gold. London sales today were 252 bars valued at about $2,620,000, compared with 465 bars valued at about $4,400,000 on Saturday.

Assurances the tri-partite agreement would continue were given in the House of Commons by Lord Col. D. J. Colville, financial secretary to the treasury.

The government "has no intention of departing from that agreement," Colville said. He added that "there is no indication of any present or near future intention to alter the tri-partite agreement."

Colville's statement was so worded as to be an aid to the treasury's financial position regarding the future of gold. In that respect it is generally held that President Roosevelt last Friday when he told questions there had been no change in the United States government's gold policy and advised them not to worry too much about the situation.

SCARE VANISHES
Britain, France and the United States are equalization funds under the tri-partite agreement when the fund was first established.

The fund was to be used for purchases of gold and other financial operations to maintain the pound, pound and United States dollar at their stable value in relation to each other.

Colville did not reply to a question whether the fund was being used for extraordinarily large purchases of gold or if the fund would be increased.

The "gold scare" had vanished so completely today that financiers preferred to wonder what all the excitement was about the first place.

A newspaper cartoon epitomized the feeling of some dealers, who decided holding the gold as an investment was the wisest course for the moment. The cartoon portrayed two characters talking to a gold-seeker. Said one: "What are you running for?" Answered the other: "I don't know, but let's run."

Authoritative observers said there were three explanations for the gold flight: 1.—Theory the city for London financial districts just felt itself a victim of the gold flight. 2.—The London gold price previously had been held lower than the United States price to shake out timid speculators who were willing to sell the metal at a cut price—four, the American price of $35 would be lowered. 3.—A theory the British equalization fund had slipped out of the market then found normal machinery for adjusting the gold to the dollar and sterling rate would not function without official support.

The equalization fund was a heavy buyer in recent days, but purchased only a small amount of gold today.

Basically, the explanation seemed to be:

Weighty capitalists of England and continental countries held huge stores of gold in London vaults as an investment.

Recent high prices for gold started a rush to develop heretofore unprofitable mines, bringing in a new supply of gold. The hoarded gold and the new supply from mines started the market. Heavy forces sought to unload their holdings abroad, where the price was higher, thereby converting their holdings into currency.

British Envoy To Germany Under Fire

LONDON, June 8.—Arthur Henderson, Labor, and Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, in the House of Commons yesterday challenged the right of Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, to express sympathy for the Nazi regime.

They referred to a speech made by Sir Neville in Berlin last Wednesday, in which he was quoted as emphasizing the urgency of erasing "misunderstandings" had given a false impression of the Nazi regime in Britain.

Henderson, son of the late Hon. Arthur Henderson, and Miss Rathbone asked if the ambassador's disclosure contravened the view of the British government.

Miss Rathbone's suggestion the ambassador be asked to abstain from expressing his opinion as to the form of the government to which he is accredited was greeted with applause from the Labor and Liberal opposition benches and protests from Conservatives.

Foreign Secretary Zimm had given an expression of government views was not involved.

The speech was made on a social and unofficial occasion, he said. "I am not a reason for action of any kind."

Henderson asked whether it is a part of the function of an ambassador, when cataloguing the Nazi regime to criticize those sections of opinion in this country who are opposed to dictatorship?

Henderson attacked Nazis for having "distorted the Jew," suppressed all political opinion, placed many of their opponents in concentration camps and destroyed the trade unions.

DEMURRAGE ON LOADED GRAIN CARS ASSAILED

VANCOUVER, June 8.—Proposed demurrage rates for loaded grain cars in railway yards were criticized today before commissioners of the Railway Board of Canada.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, K.C., told the board that the proposed demurrage rates were "unjust and unreasonable" and that the railway companies were "exploiting the grain trade."

Demurrage charges on grain cars standing in yards after a certain period would not be applied, according to D. E. McLean, manager of Pacific Elevators.

Implication on demurrage rates asserted Robert McKee, representing the Vancouver Board of Trade, reminded the board the extra charge on moving grain would be charged back to the shipper.

McLean suggested if demurrage were allowed, the grain trade should be permitted damage when railways were unable to deliver grain in time for waiting ships.

Coroner Urges Cauter For Minors

TORONTO, June 8.—Young children should be in their homes by nine o'clock, each night and not allowed to play on the streets after dark, Coroner Dr. C. N. Mooney declared last night after an inquest into the death of nine-year-old David Cockfield.

The boy died after being struck by a car while playing ball on the road.

The commission form of government originated in Galveston, Texas, 1901, at an emergency measure following the big flood.

PIONEER TRACK OWNER VICTIM KIDNAP TRIO

Aged Abe Orpen, Toronto Racing Figure, Loses $1,000 To Extortionists

TORONTO, June 8.—Adventure cost 82-year-old Abe Orpen, who owns two of Toronto's four race tracks, $1,000 yesterday and belied a rumor of long standing that white-haired Abe never moved outdoors without an armed bodyguard.

Two days before opening of the Orpen-owned Long Branch track her seven days of racing police announced they had learned from an "undisclosed source" the aged sportsman was taken from his National Sporting Club by armed men and forced to withdraw money from the bank to pay for his release.

TELLS REPORTERS
A few minutes later Orpen was telling reporters all about it. They gathered in his office to hear the story. Orpen said he had his chauffeur, four were held up when they entered the National Sporting Club yesterday morning by three armed men who took $1,000.

"I asked them if $1,000 would fix them," he related. "I said to them: 'Young men, this bothers me. I want to fix this as quick as I can.'"

"One of them put on my chauffeur's cap and drove us down to the bank."

Orpen said he withdrew $1,000 from the Imperial Bank branch at King and York streets, not far from the heart of the business section.

HE PROMISED
"Then I shook hands with them and I promised them that, as they had kept their word in regard to the money and had treated me with consideration, I would not give away any description of them," he added.

An interview Orpen gave three weeks ago was recalled with the reported robbery of the race track owner of $1,000.

"If I were robbed," Mr. Orpen told reporters, "I would let them take what I had." Yesterday he did.

In the same interview Mr. Orpen had advocated turning convicts into northern Ontario to search for gold. He also expressed belief a motorist had sufficient to do if he raised three children and that the wage earner was not securing a fair deal.

SAINT BERNARD DOGS WILL NOT BE PUT AWAY

HOSPICE OF THE GREAT ST. BERNARD, Switzerland, June 8.—The commandant of Swiss guard dogs announced today the Saint Bernard dogs, one of whom bit a small girl to death, will not be destroyed as a result of the tragedy.

The commandant complained in the case and said he found the dogs were of general good nature and were not a public danger.

One of the dogs killed the 10-year-old daughter of Dr. Jean Bernand, May 18, and he had asked the monks to destroy all the Bernards.

The monks, on strike since all road work was decided today to reject the recommendation of the United Mine Workers district executive that they return to work pending negotiations. They determined to remain on strike as the "only power" in the area.

Effective Infantile Paralysis Serum Found By Rochester Doctor

By STEPHEN McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 8.—An effective serum to prevent the crippling of children and adults suffering from infantile paralysis is being developed, a Rochester, Minn., physician said today, as the result of a discovery the disease is caused by the common streptococcus bacteria which changes its form and becomes a filterable virus.

Such a serum, which will prevent paralysis in victims of the disease if it is given promptly, already has proven effective in experiments on monkeys and on a few human beings during epidemics. Dr. Charles E. Rosenow of the Mayo Clinic declared in presenting an exhibit of his work before the opening meeting of the American Medical Association.

PRODUCED SYMPTOMS
In the laboratory he prepared cultures of the streptococcus, inoculated experimental animals and produced typical infantile paralysis symptoms.

He also prepared the virus from bacteria taken from monkeys which died of the disease and, in another test, showed the presence of the bacteria in animals and human beings just before the onset of the first symptoms of the disease. Other scientists have held the belief the virus was a separate thing not specifically related to bacteria.

Studies of epidemics have shown they can be traced to milk or water supplies, he added. In one instance of a mid-western city of 2,500,000 people where 700 cases of infantile paralysis were found the streptococcus bacteria was found in the drinking water and when injected into experimental animals produced the disease in them.

CAN BE HALTED
"It seems that we can now prove without any reasonable doubt that infantile paralysis and encephalitis, a brain infection, are primarily streptococcal diseases and that as the streptococcus infection proceeds a virus phase of its development appears."

In every case the presence of the streptococcus can be shown if it is caught at the proper stage of its development and studied under the proper procedure," he added.

OF TWO MILLION HORSES

EXPOSITS OF CANADIAN NICKEL TO U.S.A. BRING NEW WEALTH TO CANADA

BOULDER DAM on the Colorado River is one of the most stupendous engineering projects in history. The world's greatest dam has been built across Boulder Canyon; a lake 115 miles long has been created; a great hydro-electric power station has been constructed. And when the tons of water surge through the penstocks, the eight huge gates or valves must bear an impact equivalent to the onrush of two million horses at 120 miles an hour.

These valves are the largest ever built. Ninety rail-road cars were required to transport them to this site. To provide the necessary ductility, and resistance to corrosion, erosion and wear, 126,240 pounds of Monel were used for the valve facings, screws and bolts, not to mention tons of Canadian Nickel used in the Nickel steel butterfly valves, cawabays and other equipment.

With the help of the extra strength, toughness and wear resistance which Nickel supplies to other metals, new feats of engineering are being accomplished in all parts of the world, and new income is created for Canada. This wealth permeates to every section of the Dominion, as payment for the timber, power, machinery and supplies for the mines, smelters and refineries, and for the products which feed, clothe and house the thousands who find steady and profitable employment in the Nickel industry.

CANADIAN NICKEL FOLLOWS WORLD INDUSTRY

A RANGE TOP OF Lasting Beauty

From Canada's Nickel mines comes a brilliant, durable material for the top of your kitchen range—Monel. This silvery alloy of Canadian Nickel and Canadian Copper is positively unmatchable and will not chip or crack because it is solid metal like sterling. Heat and food juices which discolor most materials have little effect on Monel's hard glass-like surface. Through the years it becomes even more beautiful than when new. Leading range manufacturers are now making gas and electric ranges with Monel tops. Ask to see them.

PRESBYTERIANS WAX WARM IN MONEY DEBATE

Some Think $30,000 Cost
Of Administrative Work
On Missions Too High

OTTAWA, June 8.—The warmest debate in four days of deliberations broke out yesterday at the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada as the members heard the overheard expenses of the Board of Missions spiritedly attacked and defended.

Dr. A. S. Shortt, Burin, Ont., said proposed appointments of two new workers for mission work would bring the administrative costs of the board to about $30,000.

CURE GIVING
He believed this to be high and thought the spending might be more uneconomical among congregations and place a curb on individual offerings.

Dr. A. M. Hill, conference of the Board of Missions, said Dr. Shortt's attitude seemed pessimistic. He added that "the church's attitude about what officials of the church were getting paid for one of the most serious obstacles the church had to overcome."

The question of the appointments was believed to be settled today. A decrease of $8,000 in the church budget to $20,000 was the prevailing unanimous opinion.

A proposal to set $100 as the retiring age for church officials and to require missionaries to be retired to a committee.

WOULD BE EASIER
Mr. Penman led $100,000 in his will for the support of the institution. Just before his death he asked his minister if the amount were reduced to $50,000, would the church still have the heart to tell the sick man that the amount would be reduced to $25,000?

Windsor Ready to Stage
Hunt for Shaggy Beast
At Noctech

NOETECH, Austria, June 8.—The Duke of Windsor, unafraid of even an Austrian big bad wolf, invited today as to how he might catch "the bushyhaired," the marauding beast of the Debrauch mountains.

The wolf provided the grounds of Castle Wasserburg early today with complete disregard for the Duke's honey-moon peace.

The Duke was interested. He consulted with a local forester as to what equipment would be needed for a bang-up wolf hunt.

An attendant at the chateau declared he saw the beast by flashes of lightning during a heavy storm. Word immediately spread through the community and the villagers planned to organize another hunt such as the one in which they had once countryside the day the Windsors arrived.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Grad Bulwarks

Fans Hushed

Telegraph Toast

CONSISTENCY and fighting spirit ended Tulsa's bid for the women's international basketball crown last night and carried the Edmonton Grads to another victory. Looking back on the box scores for the four games, it seems fair and logical to say that the Stenos were playing over their heads when they beat the Grads Saturday night. Any time they can turn in a field shot accuracy of 40 per cent for three out of five games, then they will very likely take the Underwood trophy from Edmonton. Even 40 per cent accuracy will do the trick.

So far that is a peak of perfection, with no girl team has yet reached and to reach it will require such concentrated training that no club is likely to turn the trick for a long time. The only way it may be done is by following the methods of Coach Percy Page, building from raw material over a period of perhaps 16 years at least. Even this pre-supposes that the challenging team must be at least equal to the Grads in defensive power, for even amazing accuracy will not win if the opposition shoots twice as often. Basketball is different from all other team sports in this matter of scoring accuracy.

The Grads have probably a higher accuracy percentage than any other girls' team in the world today if you use twenty or thirty games as a basis for computing it. It took literally thousands of hours of practice shooting to acquire this ability. Even Coach Page can only make a rough estimate of the number of hours of drilling that it takes to make a first-class Grad.

These years of practice are the real bulwarks behind which the Grads are able to retain their dominion and world championship trophies season after season. Coach Page's girls have never been beaten before being equalled in modern sport, but it has taken 22 years of constant study, work and planning such as might few men are capable of giving.

Fans' Voices Stilled

THIS year baseball fans will have no voice in the selection of the American and National league stars who will play in the "Dream Game" at Washington on July 7, Judge Landis, Pres. Frick of the National and Harbridge of the American recently met in Washington and decided that they would allow the fan ballots in selecting the all-stars for this game. Since the inauguration of the players in 1903, fans all over the country have sent in the names of the players they want to see in action against each other.

The game was first suggested by a Chicago sport writer in order to give the fans one afternoon in which they could see the greatest stars of each league pitted against each other irrespective of the teams they belong to. It caught the public fancy at once. Hundreds of thousands made all-star selections.

Theoretically the fans' votes for each player were tabulated and the teams were then made up from those with the most votes. However this was only theoretically. Actually it was the team managers and league officials who drew up the lineups. There was no fair play at all for either league to leave the player selection entirely up to the public. The action of the major leagues this season in eliminating the fan ballots accordingly means very little.

However it does take a lot of the appeal out of this game. The two leagues have taken the attitude that it is an unofficial test of their respective calibers, which is far from the original idea. It was merely intended to let the fans see just how their favorite stars would shape up against each other, or work together on one team. Moves such as this ignoring of the voice of the fan makes you wonder if the late Barney Dreyfuss wasn't right when he made the crack, "Baseball succeeds in spite of those at its head."

Orchids for Rube

On May 31 at Boston, big good-natured Rube Walberg pitched the Red Sox to an 8-2 win over the Yankees. Rube was just considering the merits of going to bed that night when a telegram boy handed him a wire.

"The party is just breaking up and there are just two drinks left so am taking one for myself and one for the only pitcher the Boston Red Sox have that can stop the Yanks. Bottoms up, Big-Old-Old Hansen," the wire read.

The Boston papers record that Walberg needed no address to identify the sender.

From the hottest ball fan I ever met—big-Old-Hansen away up in Edmonton. Rube announced with a chuckle as he showed the wire to the rest of the gang. "Met him I went up there with Earl Mack's all-stars. He got me cornered in the hotel one afternoon to talk ball and in half an hour he was plumb gone. That guy, you know more ball statistics than the men that got out the record books."

A few hours later, Hansen got a wire back here, with the announcement that Rube had just turned up a couple bottles in connection with Edmonton days to complete the cross-continent tour.

OLIVER SHANKS LOSES BY KAYO

BUFFALO, June 8.—Oliver Shanks, Edmonton heavyweight, was knocked out by Jimmy Adams of Midland, Md., in the fifth round of their heavyweight boxing bout here last night.

Shanks absorbed a lot of punishment in the early rounds and took the count at 140 of the fifth. The Edmonton boxer weighed 180 and Adams 160.

Shanks was the victor in the first round and the second round. A run in the eighth and one in the last of the ninth gave Shanks the victory.

Great, pushing for the Bumsen, was a big factor in keeping the Shony Plains box in check.

Juniors Defeated By Stony Plain

A run scored in the ninth inning gave the Stony Plain baseball team a 4-3 decision over the Arrow Bux Juniors in a game played at Stony Plain Sunday.

At the end of the fifth inning Stony Plain was leading 3-0 but an Edmonton rally in the sixth netted three runs to send the game to a tie. A run in the eighth and one in the last of the ninth gave Stony Plain the victory.

Great, pushing for the Bumsen, was a big factor in keeping the Shony Plains box in check.

PATS PRACTICE

The Mustang Lumber Pat will practice Wednesday evening at the McClellay school grounds at 8:00 p.m. The Pat will show no chances of being unprepared for their game with the Packers this Friday. All players are reminded that they must bring their amateur card.

Drub Tonsi Crew, 21-16. In Listless Contest At Boyle Street

Ballying for 13 runs in their last two innings, Drub's O.C. girls broke into the win column in the Senior Girls' Baseball League for the first time as they turned back Bert Tonsi's Canada Packers by a 21-16 margin.

A lullish game, with poor pitching predominating, only six runs were scored in more than two hours. Right from the start the game looked like a free-for-all affair and before the game was called in the sixth, no less than 27 runs had crowded the plate.

STARTED OUT WELL

The O.C. girls started out in winning fashion by scoring three runs in the first frame, holding the Packers scoreless and then added two more in the first half of the second round. Packers wiped out the O.C. lead with a seven-run rally, holding the O.C. girls scoreless in the first part of the third, but then gave up more of their total. With the O.C. girls scoring three in the fourth and the Packers registering four, the score stood at 12-8 in favor of the Packers.

Then in the fifth frame the whole O.C. team broke the ground gave way and to prevent himself from going down, the son of Man O'War took a quick jump and one of his hind legs struck the right fence post.

O.C. took batting honors for the sixth, but got two hits with Puckster's making one of them a double. Puckster's made one of them a double, but got two hits with Puckster's making one of them a double.

Drub Tonsi Crew, 21-16. In Listless Contest At Boyle Street

Ballying for 13 runs in their last two innings, Drub's O.C. girls broke into the win column in the Senior Girls' Baseball League for the first time as they turned back Bert Tonsi's Canada Packers by a 21-16 margin.

A lullish game, with poor pitching predominating, only six runs were scored in more than two hours. Right from the start the game looked like a free-for-all affair and before the game was called in the sixth, no less than 27 runs had crowded the plate.

STARTED OUT WELL

The O.C. girls started out in winning fashion by scoring three runs in the first frame, holding the Packers scoreless and then added two more in the first half of the second round. Packers wiped out the O.C. lead with a seven-run rally, holding the O.C. girls scoreless in the first part of the third, but then gave up more of their total. With the O.C. girls scoring three in the fourth and the Packers registering four, the score stood at 12-8 in favor of the Packers.

Then in the fifth frame the whole O.C. team broke the ground gave way and to prevent himself from going down, the son of Man O'War took a quick jump and one of his hind legs struck the right fence post.

O.C. took batting honors for the sixth, but got two hits with Puckster's making one of them a double. Puckster's made one of them a double, but got two hits with Puckster's making one of them a double.
